DEFENDING MR. ELLIOT

Its campaign against F. C. Elliot, chief engineer of Everglades drainage district, having been interrupted in the process of seceding the north section of Palm Beach county, the South Florida Developer, published a "Smoking Out Our Engineer" and renews its demand that Mr. Elliot resign, be fired or take up his residence in the district which, The Developer says, he supervises.

When The Developer discusses the Everglades and the chief engineer of the district it makes an incision published in the South Florida Developer; it almost infringes our copyright, violates our patent and usurps a prerogative. Mr. Elliot is our mutton.

St. Lucie canal, the "control of the liquid heart of Florida," is wholly in Martin county, which gives The Developer some rights, but the canal is still in Everglades drainage district and The Everglades News would maintain its position as the chief critic of the administration of the district. This, however, we are embarrassed by not knowing who is running the district. We don't know whether the commissioners of the district boss Mr. Elliot or whether he bosses them.

Fred C. Elliot, chief engineer of Everglades drainage district, holds office by appointment by five state officials: Mr. Martin, the governor; Mr. Luning, the treasurer; Mr. Amos, the comptroller; Mr. Burford, the attorney general, and Mr. Mayo, the commissioner of agriculture. He is presumed to act under their orders, spend the money they furnish and supervise the execution of the contracts they make. Let's remember that, in fairness. It would be interesting, however, to know if the presumption is sound.

In addition to these five reasons for Mr. Elliot's retention in office in Tallahassee there are three other good reasons: Mr. Elliot owns a home in Tallahassee; it is very much attached to his home and the capital, and third last, it is safer to keep a station close to the offices of his five employers than to risk that some one of the administrators of the job will be "sweating out on the job," as The Developer would have him. And it may be that Mr. Elliot wants to get out on the job and swing the Governor Mr. Martin and his cabinet won't let him!

ONE GOOD, SOME BAD

Fellsmere district, in what used to be St. Lucie county, is now Indian River county, is in new ownership and is being boomed again. Tracts of 40 acres are being offered at $75 an acre, which is a fair price. Louis Gold, who operated in New York's suburbs and by building 3,500 houses in 1924 established the world record for 12-month operations, is taking part in the new Fellsmere development. The district's drainage system has been extended and strengthened.

A drawing in an advertisement in the Miami Herald last Sunday purports to show the location of "Fellsmere" but the letters and inscriptions leave much to be desired for clearness. Whatever the location is, the proposition appears to be wholly "admirable." Buyers are warned to beware.

The advertising of "St. Lucie Falls" in the Miami Herald of Sunday is so deceptive as to make it unworthy of credence. Some of the representations in the advertisement are such that the Herald should refuse further insertions of the advertisement and the Palm Beach County Real Estate Board should make a declaration as to its substantial truthfulness. Advertisements of some properties in Glades county that are being printed in the Miami Herald are distinctly false.

THE BRYAN MEMORIAL

The proposal that a statue be erected at Clewiston as a memorial to the late William Jennings Bryan is meritorious. There is no reason why there should not be many memorials to the Commander and Clewiston is a more proper place than many that have been mentioned. Mr. Bryan counted Florida as his home; his place of residence was not at Miami but at Coconut Grove, and Miami is not a more proper place for a memorial than is Clewiston.

A splendid site is immediately available at Clewiston and there have been as definitely tendered elsewhere.

The fame of William Jennings Bryan will last as long as records are kept of great ideals but there is need that reminders be given to the successive generations. Times does obscure even the greatest of fame and it is to erect a memorial to Mr. Bryan at Clewiston which be executed without delay and no doubt it will be.

THE MEANING OF BRIDGES

A bridge is a symbol of progress; it facilitates travel, and links together the separated shores which heretofore held difficult communication with one another, says the St. Augustine Record, commenting on the construction of a new structure.

In agricultural sections bridges are even more important than paved roads, particularly in South Florida, a region of seasonal rains, for a tractor can pull loads over roads that are not paved.

The great number of drainage canals in the Everglades makes the matter of bridges one of high moment. The folk on the east coast have so little understanding of the conditions peculiar to the Everglades that they will have a difficult time in the future, when this region has larger population, to make them understand the relation of bridges to development.

LIGHTS ON CARS

Complaint is made on the east coast that many drivers of automobiles habitually violate the state law which requires that lights must be displayed on cars on the public roads later than 30 minutes after sunset.

If violation of this law is frequent in the cities on the coast, it is more frequent in farming regions, where tractors, trucks and farm machinery as well as cars are left on roadsides.

Morality as well as criminality is involved in the practice. Men who are careless or indifferent to the safety of travelers and their neighbors will be indifferent in other matters of law observance and make a bad community. It is some trouble to the safety of the lights. But it is trouble that is warranted.

Absence of the mayor will delay Port Lauderdale's paving campaign, says a big headline in the Miami Herald. We have that kind of a condition in Pahokee drainage district, and Palm Beach county school board.

Look out for a drop in the price of "acreage." The Miami police have started a campaign to break up the practice of men congregating and blocking the streets.

A Miami real estate man ran over two children with his car but made the satisfactory defense that he was a millionaire and was on his way to close a deal.

IN LIEU OF GOLF

The Editor's Own Column

Does anybody care what I like or don't like? No? Then I'll tell you: I have no congenial dislike for office-holders, and in this I am in the minority, for office-holders are elected by majorities. Of course, I find some office-holders that I get along with, but not even aches and pains, a Kluxer admits there are some good Jews and Catholics. Still, the office-holders shouldn't be blamed; it's the fault of the newspapers that they are as they are, because most newspapers are after official pay and don't say what they think for fear of losing out on the city printing or other patronage. And by office-holders I don't mean public officials only; Chambers of Commerce and Rotary Clubs are getting so they wield as much authority or more authority than the men who are voted for in general elections. Here are two typical instances:

Up state one day last week I went into the city hall and asked the first man I met, "I live at Canal Point on the eastern shore of Lake Okeechobee. We who live down there are much interested in rainfall and water. Water from this section flows down our way. I'd like to ask if any of the town officials have any records or data on either of these subjects?" The man I addressed said: "See the city manager." So I saw the city manager and repeated my statement. The city manager replied, "I said, 'Thank you!' and I went out."

In another town I was referred to the Chamber of Commerce. A young woman was in charge. I recited my little piece to her, just like it is printed in the above and preceding paragraph. She said: "What is it you want?" So I said, "I want to know if I had said it so many times I could say it with one hand tied behind me." "Oh!" she said, and she went away. When she came back she said, "I had a printed slip. 'That is all we have,' she told me. The precise data I wanted was there, except that it did not have the figures for June and July. The young woman referred me to the another part of the city for the more recent data, and the man in the other part of the city sent me back to the Chamber of Commerce. Well, I never did get what I wanted. The Chamber of Commerce was engaged in conversation with her young man friend. On the way, youth can be served. Love-making (if that was it) is more important than a flood in the Everglades. Why should a respectable Chamber of Commerce office-holder waste any time on a homely, gray-haired, head-bashed, short-sighted, ruined trust from the Everglades? So, although what she said controverted what the man in another part of town said, I said, "Thank you!" and went out. On this trip I said "Thank you" for things I didn't get as many times as I've said "That's good" in a poker game, and that's a plenty.

ANSWER TO AN INQUIRY

Editor, The Everglades News—
I have just come into possession of the $2000 for which my late husband's life was insured for the benefit of our five small children and I am desirous of buying some lots in the agent says is going to be established on a railroad that is going to be built. He says I can double the money when he collects his commission on the sale. I buy from him. Will you please tell me how long you will be in that class of real estate until last—Sincerely, Tessie Moore Greed.

Dear Tessie: We get many letters like yours—some seem to find out very quickly when a widow collects her life insurance—and although we ordinarily charge a fee for our advice, you shall have our opinion without charge.

We think the market for "that class of real estate" will continue good for a while. It is a race start at Hialeah—Your very truly,
THE EDITOR.

THE BACKBONE OF PROGRESS

Avon Park American.

When during the past week into this office and told us what Florida needed most to put it solidly on the maps as the greatest of all states was fewer speculators and more farmers. We decided it was time to tell our readers about it.

One of these gentlemen, a real estate dealer who is familiar with state wide conditions, has made an investigation of the tendency towards overspeculation. He asserts that scattered along the main highways of Florida are approximately 300,000 lots described by the subdividers as "business lots." He estimates that if all of these lots were occupied with business structures and tenant farmers, we would require the total population of the United States plus about half the population of Europe to provide a sufficient market to maintain these business enterprises.

Statistics such as these sound facetious and impertinent. Nevertheless, they contain a germ of wisdom in that they bring to light a most serious condition concerning speculation in land. It is evident that all of the population of the United States is not likely to move to Florida, and Florida is not particularly anxious to welcome half the population of Europe. At least eighty per cent of the lots sold as business lots, and almost as many as the population of Florida, cannot possibly ever be occupied.

The net result is a loss of valuable property that might be used for the production of something of value. Regardless of the price it may bring, land is worth nothing until it is put to use.

It has often been said that the farmer is the backbone of the nation. Certain it is that agriculture provides a solid foundation on which to permanently build a thriving community, county or state. Florida needs more farmers. Thousands and thousands of acres capable of producing enough to feed and clothe a nation are being wasted. Vast tracts that were once in orange and grapefruit groves are being cut up to satisfy the craving for speculation and the holding of valuable property. Agriculture lends dignity to a state. Oil and mining booms, and pure speculation cause inflation, which eventually leads to collapse and loss to investors; agriculture steadies values, and assures a constantly if slowly growing population. Speculation produces only imaginary wealth; agriculture produces concrete merchandise that can be utilized because it has real value.

By seeing developers who have at heart the future welfare of themselves as well as the state and its citizens, are beginning to realize the need of the state and to take steps to encourage the cultivation of the soil.

JUMPING ON OUR ENGINEER

From the South Florida Developer.
The sending of the dredge, Governor Herrick into the St. Lucie canal, where it is to start work in September, constituted an admission by F. C. Elliot, state drainage engineer, that the excavation work in the Everglades has fallen down and is now far behind schedule. It took two unnecessary years for Mr. Elliot to discover this fact—it was known on the grounds in 1923.

This is another way of saying that it took two years for the news of Everglades progress to travel from the Glades to Tallahassee where Mr. Elliot has his abode. The delay cost the Everglades drainage district considerable money and will prevent the transportation of water freight through the St. Lucie canal for at least another year.

But on this score we must forgive our engineer because, although terribly late in acting he has at last sent another dredge to the scene of the work.

This puts three dredges in the St. Lucie canal west of Stuart. The most serious of the moment only one other fault to find with Mr. Elliot's administration and this is one that has been lagged on for years. It is an unpleasant subject to Mr. Elliot for twelve years he has fought shy of it. Sooner or later he is going to have to face it.

We refer to this non-resident proprietorship. There is no economic foundation for his policy of living in Tallahassee and operating his business in the Everglades. He belongs on the job and we intend to continue to impress that fact on him until perhaps he reaches the state capitol he will pick up and move to South Florida where he belongs. Mr. Elliot is unquestionably better informed on the subject of Everglades drainage than any other man in the country. He is also vindictive as was proved by his abortive attempt last winter to expose this newspaper's "ignorance." He proved to everybody concerned that he was not the proper man to remain as engineer of the Glades drainage operations and several newspapers which are published on the ground and not in Tallahassee just winter in suggesting that it was time for Mr. Elliot to resign. Nobody expected him to take the hint but he at least was graceful enough to give out a little information concerning the drainage operations. If he was the first he had divulged in years. This served to silence his critics for the moment and he followed up his first offensive by bringing the Governor Herrick into the canal. Some accept this as an indication that Mr. Elliot is doing his best. We regard it as an admission of two things: First, that it would be the St. Lucie canal when he said he would; second, his admission that he could not realize from his removed place of residence just how badly another dredge was needed.

We feel that the time is coming when Mr. Elliot or the man who takes his place will live in South Florida where he can know what is going on. We contend that if Mr. Elliot thinks he has a swivel chair job we would better get an engineer who is not afraid to get out on the job and sweat.

Los Angeles, Cal. Aug. 10, 1925.
Editor, The Everglades News:

Enclosed find $2 for renewal of subscription to your paper, which supply me with a life-saver to us non-resident owners, for it is the only source of information as to what's going on. I have a 10-acre tract and lot at Okeechobee, which I have plowed once but had to let it fall back to sawgrass. Judging from your paper's statements we may soon get some action. Let's hope so by all means, before I get too old to do any good.

SOUTH BAY

SOUTH BAY, Aug. 17.—Have all heard of Chas. E. Forbes' return from his New York trip? He says the trip was well worth while. Albert Warner came down to spend a few days with Charles as he was seeing Florida this summer while Charles was seeing New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawles and Mr. and Mrs. Furman Denton came home from a trip to the beach so badly sunburned that they were hardly recognizable.

Virgil Hicks and Marjory Gay left the employ of Bryan & Holloway recently. Mr. Hicks is now carpentering on the school house with Mr. Grimes. Mr. Gay is working in West Palm Beach. These two have been working with the Palm Beach drainage and highway district for years.

A musical recital was given at John McAlister's to help entertain the crowd who had gathered in honor of Mrs. McAlister's birthday. After the music, ice cream and cake were served to send everyone off with a smile.

John McAlister is working in West Palm Beach now and only comes home to spend Sunday.

Another crowd of merry-makers tried the beach last Sunday but as it was a cloudy day they came home looking quite natural. Those who made the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rawles, Mr. and Mrs. Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Betzner, the Misses Laura Hudson and Bea Denton, and Messrs. Tom and Eric Hartline.

Mr. and Mrs. Barstow and Glidden were obliged to take Geraldine to Tampa last week where she could be put in the hands of a physician. Geraldine was taken ill suddenly and they hired a car to drive her through as quickly as possible. They arrived in Tampa the first of the day they left. Mr. Barstow and Glidden have returned and the rest will come later.

Mrs. Ernest Farnum and her son Ernest, Jr., and Miss Alice Forbes drove down to the west coast by car, where they met Mr. Farnum and daughter Eunice, who had gone down the Caloosahatchee in their boat, the Swallow. The party went on down to Crescent Beach, where four days were spent fishing and swimming. They were joined by Dr. Price at Estero, where Mr. Farnum will stay and fish for some time.

The rest of the party came home Tuesday of last week, just in time for the hottest day South Bay has experienced. Mrs. Barnes and children have returned from their extended visit to the mother of Maclemmy. Mr. Barnes, who has been a bachelor for so long, is going around all smiles. Who wouldn't be proud to be a new daddy to such a fine big girl?

Little Constance Fossey returned with Miss Grace Clark and Phyllis Sherman from Miami. She will take her vacation in the wild, free life of the Everglades.

Inasmuch as Florida is the only place in the United States where bananas are commercially grown, the convention is expected to be more of a national character than state.

Experts and state officials and visitors from all parts of the nation are expected to attend.

OKEELANTA

OKEELANTA, Aug. 17.—Ed Covell returned Sunday from a prolonged visit to British Columbia, his former home.

Mrs. M. F. Whalen, who was guest at the hotel during the week-end, went back to Miami Monday evening.

In making up the itinerary for the gubernatorial party on its inspection trip to the Everglades, Mr. Elliot, chief drainer, omitted the south shore of Lake Okeechobee. It may be, however, that on the official maps in Tallahassee this area of Everglades back from the "terra incognita." This studied perspective of ignoring the south shore settlements is, to say the least, very striking and suspicious.

The appointment of an alligator for chickens led to his speedy execution at the hands of Ben Anjima and Ed Cooper some time last week.

Dave Hitherington will be in charge of John Hux's eleven head of cattle recently brought from Geerworth by barge. There is sufficient high ground along the bank of the canal on the east side for pasture. During her husband's employment on a dredge Mrs. Hux will make her home at Lake Worth.

Mrs. Nora Griggs is visiting her parents, the Mothersbaughs and her little daughter Margaret.

Last Friday forenoon, Captain Cooper of the launch Lucie was called over the phone to the assistance of the disabled tug Hugu, belonging to the dredge Florida, now at work in this canal. Nothing more was heard, until in the evening, a perspiring postmaster, who had been a "dead head" passenger, made his way to town to summon help for both of the boats.

—The Lucie, too, being out of commission. The U. S. mailboat, in command of Ben Anjima went at once to the rescue. There was general rejoicing when about dark, the flotilla in tow of Uncle Sam's vessel, moved majestically to the city dock. As the rescued and rescuer stopped ashore, the commotion band struck up the stirring strains, "There will be a hot time in the old town tonight."

TORRY ISLAND

TORRY ISLAND, Aug. 17.—Ross Winnie went to LaBelle Monday, returning Tuesday. He says there are no mosquitoes over there so it must be a good place to visit.

The Misses Esther and Elizabeth Bea Der are spending several days at Coconut Grove with their mother, who is having quite a lot of dental work done.

Mrs. Ross Winnie and daughters Gertrude and Dorothea returned Thursday from Homestead, where they had been visiting at Dr. Petersen's. Miss Kate Petersen and Mrs. Simon and daughter Luella came with her, returning to Homestead Friday.

Homer Crockett returned Friday from a several days stay at Larkins. Pat Larkins and Ted Crockett came home with him for a few days stay.

John Annunzio and Ross Winnie went to Ritta Friday to meet the governor and his party.

Week end guests, Ross Winnes were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Singer, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wood, Mrs. W. E. Mullins of Hialeah and B. V. Pace of Fort Lauderdale.

Ralph Cherry and family moved to the Reed Bryan place last week. Mr. Cherry will farm there this year.

RITTA

RITTA, Aug. 18.—Governor Martin and other members of the I. I. Board, with J. E. Board, chief engineer, came to Miami Locks at 4 p. m. Friday as scheduled, for the purpose of meeting those who wished to purchase the lands, lands, which they are now living. Maud Wingfield, I. S. Campbell, K. C. Smith, J. W. Bishop, Phil Murray, A. Callahan and Phil Y. Canton, made application for their home sites in section 34, township 43, range 35 and E. B. Fortson and Mrs. Bronson to theirs in section 3, township 44, range 35, M. M. Hall, the other time here, is to make application later. All interested persons seemed pleased with the consideration given them by Governor Martin and the other members of the board.

Phil Y. Cason and wife and little daughter came from West Palm Beach Thursday night and stayed until Sunday at the old home place with Walter Brown.

J. W. Bishop and son Ralph were down from Lake Wales for a few days. They returned Monday but expect to be back as soon as water conditions will permit farming.

Billy Murray and K. C. Smith were back from LaBelle the first of the week. Smith will remain here, but Murray went back Monday hoping, however, he could get farming operations here under way this week.

Mrs. J. E. Beardsley and children returned here last Monday. They expect to join J. E. in West Palm Beach in a few days and make that their home.

A GAME TO PLAY

PARTNER TAG

All of the players but two hook arms in couples. Of the two who are free, one is "it" or chaser, and the other the runner. The runner may save himself by locking arms with either member of any couple he chooses. Whenever he does so, the third party of the group becomes runner and must save himself in like manner. If the runner be tagged at any time, he becomes "it" or chaser, and the chaser becomes runner.

To get the proper story into this game, the couples should be numbered in any way their reasonable maneuvers to elude the runner, who is liable at any time to lock arms with one of them and so make the other a runner.

For a large number there should be more than one runner and chaser.

COUNT AGENT'S FARM ADVICE

H. P. Peterson, County Agent (The Okeechobee News.)

The latest government reports indicate the shortest potato crops in the north in five years. Should final reports bear this out, potato raising in this section should prove a profitable crop as far as demand is concerned.

Potatoes in this section should be planted between December first and the 20th. Northern grown, certified seed should be used. Thorough and timely preparation of land should be made. More or less fertilizer should be used on practically all soils. Care should be used in selecting the proper fertilizer.

The seed should be disinfected and carefully cut into pieces of the proper sizes. The distance between the rows and between the plants or seeds in the rows should be carefully considered from the points of view of fertility of the land, drainage and whether cultivation is to be by hand or machine.

Peppers should be planted in this section more commonly than they have been in the past.

Simplified Dictionary, $1.20. Ninth grade: English, Algebra, History (Modern), Agriculture, Latin. Tenth grade: English, Algebra, History (Ancient), Agriculture, Latin. Eleventh grade: To be arranged after class is organized.

On the average pepper are one of the best paying truck crops grown in Florida. Some beans, tomatoes and cabbage should also be planted.

Crop diversification is essential to success and better for your land.

Our farmers do not pay enough attention to the production of vegetables, eggs, butter and similar products at home to reduce "out of pocket" costs of the farm.

Our local markets are bare of home produced vegetables. This is a reflection on our local farmers and gardeners. Collards, New Zealand spinach, radishes, turnips and other summer vegetables could and should be produced for local use at least. A little elbow grease and a few drops of perspiration may be necessary to produce same, but it would pay well.

Farm families could live more cheaply were their meals better planned and prepared and provided to a greater extent from the farm and the garden.

We must give more attention to poultry raising and dairying. During the present year Florida will import, it is estimated, about 15,000,000 dozen of eggs. That sounds like a good argument for setting up our back country with a few poultry raisers. On the average our section of the state pays from 10 to 20 cents per dozen more for eggs than they do in most other places of the United States. Our poultry raisers, however, must strive for winter layers, that is the heaviest production from October to February.

At present the market from February through May is somewhat congested, at which time processing and cold storage should be resorted to more generally. Our tourist season is lengthening and will relieve this situation somewhat.

Dairying is a profitable industry in this section and offers wonderful opportunities for profitable endeavor to real dairymen who will attend to the business constantly and intelligently. We have lost coast dairymen, even after buying all their feed, are making big money. A properly kept graded dairy herd will pay for itself in about eight months time, even after buying all your feed.

What would the profits be when you raised some of your feed and had a permanent pasture. Let us not overlook the dairy industry and its opportunities for profit. The tens of thousands of people flocking in to Florida to live must be fed. Most of them are used to milk, butter and eggs and want them and will pay a good price to get these products.

WOMEN'S CLUB HAS ANNUAL MEETING

Officers Elected For New Term; Improvements Are Sought

Election of officers for a new term took place at the meeting of the Canal Point Women's Club held Tuesday afternoon at R. Brigham's Cafe, where Mrs. C. Brigham was hostess. Mrs. W. A. Adams was chosen president; Mrs. W. J. Thomas vice president; Mrs. Grady Raborn treasurer and Mrs. Charles R. Baker press reporter. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served. Members present were Mesdames Adams, Buchanan, Baker, Pope, Stuckey, Sasser, Raborn, Tucker, Griffin and Brigham.

The narrowness and consequent traffic congestion on the bridge, and highway on South Canal street and the need for widening were discussed with a view to submitting suggestions to the general manager of Conners Highway and the owners of abutting property.

As soon as the date of running passenger trains can be learned, the Woman's Club of Pahokee will be communicated with and invited to join in a celebration of the opening of railroad service to East Beach.

The next meeting of the club will be on September 1.

THIBODEAUX GETS FORMAL CONTRACT

Formal award of contract for erecting two buildings at Canal Point for the United States Department of Agriculture has been made to S. J. Thibodeaux, who went to West Palm Beach Tuesday and executed the bond required of him as contractor.

The buildings will be a superintendent's cottage 30x40 feet and a laboratory 40x40, both constructed of hollow tile and stuccoed.

The site is a point on the ridge overlooking the lake half a mile north of the main part of town and directly in front of the plot of muck ground on which sugar canes are grown and tested.

Abstracts of title to the site for the cottage and laboratory have not been approved by the attorney for the Department of Agriculture but approval is expected shortly. The land was bought from the Florida Sugar & Food Products Company, which made concessions in price and other conditions in order to get the station related at Canal Point. Under his contract Mr. Thibodeaux is to complete the cottage and laboratory within 90 days after he receives authority to start work. Some of the material for the buildings is on the ground.

HIGH SCHOOL STAFF

With Professor H. Speer principal and teacher of agriculture, the faculty of the Canal Point school will be composed of Mrs. McClelland in the high school, Mrs. Sasser sixth and seventh grades, Mrs. W. A. Adams fourth and fifth, Miss Eunice Swicord third and fourth and Mrs. Dan Griffith primary. Another high school teacher is yet to be engaged, the man who was employed having declined.

SOUTH BAY, Aug. 17.—Mr. Grimes and his crew are proving themselves fast workmen. The work on the school house is progressing so fast that we can see the new room grow in a day. The place will be completed in plenty of time for school to start at the appointed time. The teachers are all hired and we expect to have a large school this year.

RUMOR SAYS GOVERNOR ORDERS ROAD OPENED

It is reported that Governor Martin has ordered Okeechobee road opened even if the dredge Calosashatchee has to be shut down for a few days. A corduroy detour road is to be built by the county. It is expected the road will be in use sometime next week.

CANAL POINT

J. N. Tyner writes from Okla-homa to F. S. Reynolds that he will start on his return to Canal Point most any time now.

Ed Jordan came in Tuesday afternoon towing a barge load of gasoline from Moore Haven for the Canal Point garage. He left Wednesday morning on the return to Moore Haven.

Floyd Lamb, driver of the Standard Oil delivery wagon, went to Okeechobee the first of the week, laying off for a few days.

G. C. Cranford last week went down to Okeechobee county to L. L. Davis' saw mill to have framing material saved for The Everglades News building and other jobs.

Frank Wilson, who has been here for several years and worked with a P. E. C. surveying party recently, left Friday for Irvington, Neb. After a short stay there he will go to Limon, Iowa. He plans to return to Canal Point but the time of his return is uncertain.

Mrs. Kate Oliver and Mrs. Anna Dougan and Ellice Anderson of West Palm Beach were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vann and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hughes Thursday and Friday.

Captain R. W. Shackford and family returned Monday from a motor trip to St. Cloud. They also visited at Titusville and other points en route. St. Johns river is out of its banks at some places but at that there is more water on the west side of Kissimmee river watershed than on the east side, Mr. Shackford says. He is of opinion that state road No. 8 will be fully completed by Christmas.

Mrs. R. R. McCreight of Kansas City, Mo., who had visited the family of her brother, C. R. Baker, left Wednesday for Moore Haven to visit her father, O. M. Baker, before returning to Kansas City. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Baker accompanied her to Moore Haven.

Stanley J. Thibodeaux began Tuesday grading the Pioneer investment Company's lots north of the canal at Canal Point, preliminary to the laying of rock by the Lake Worth Construction Company. The grading contract was turned over to him because the construction company could not execute it within the time desired. Mr. Thibodeaux has been delayed in moving the Custard Apple Inn to a location further east on the canal because a part of the spoil bank was in the way. By taking the grading contract he will get the spoil bank out of the way and can proceed with moving the hotel.

PUTTING OUT SEED BEDS

Farmers around Canal Point are putting out seed beds. This is later than seed beds were put out last year because the ground is wetter, but crops are expected to mature earlier because pumps are to be put in.

WANT POWER LINE FROM EAST COAST

Propose that Two Lines Be Tied In At Head of St. Lucie Canal

The American Light and Power Company is being urged to extend power lines into the Everglades from Okeechobee and Stuart, where it owns electric light plants, to a few months ago from the Southern Utilities Company. If the action that is sought is taken, service will be rendered to Pahokee and all of the towns on Conners Highway.

Entry of the American Light and Power Company into the upper Everglades is sought as an alternative to the operation of municipal plants, which seems improbable, or the earlier installation of plants as individual or small company enterprises.

The American Light and Power Company is extending a power line from Miami along Military Trail to Stuart. The Okeechobee plant has been enlarged. Proposal has been made that a power line be extended west from the Stuart territory to Lake Okeechobee, and that line be tied in with a line from the Okeechobee plant. The W. J. Conners enterprises will support a line on this route.

The Clewiston Development Company is expected to serve territory at the south end of the lake by extension of a line from its plant at Clewiston. Providing of electric service is being urged by persons with interests on the eastern shore of Lake Okeechobee because of the knowledge that by no other means can fans be operated at household conveniences be utilized to make the conditions of life required for community development.

Tourist Camp
Out on South Parrott avenue is being built one of the finest tourist camps to be found in all Florida. In a rider over the greater portion of Florida this summer the writer never saw a camp that will compare with it either as to location, beauty or comfort. It is a camp that will add to the attraction of the city instead of being an eyesore, as many such camps are.

Would Ban Fakers
At the noonday meeting and luncheon of the Beachers Club at Hazy & Ben's last Thursday the question of taking up with the postoffice department advertisements of questionable land promotions was postponed until the meeting of this week, on account of other urgent business on hand.

Yelkne, of Iowa, who sometime ago purchased five lots in the southeast end of block 181, on Fifth street, opposite the Baptist church, has awarded a contract to Bolden & Brown, contractors, of Miami, for the erection of another hotel in Okeechobee. This new hotel will contain about thirty rooms. It will face south and will be built of concrete material throughout. The completed structure will represent an outlay of more than $25,000.

Here again is our old but frayed friend, the word "destroy." The writer for E. W. Martzoff Company says "St. Lucie Falls" has a potential pay roll. That's good. L. G. Biggers should have thought of it.

CANAL AT CAPE SABLE HOMESTEAD, Aug. 15.—B. C. Small and his company of Harrisburg, Pa., will shortly begin work on a large canal in the Cape Sable region. This canal is the initial step in the drainage plan at Madeira Farms, where a townsite will be laid out.

Farm Talk

Howard Sharp

USE OF FERTILIZERS

By WILLARD SMITH.

It is with interest and some amusement that I read the article on fertilizers in Farm Talk of your last week's issue of The Everglades News. It reminds me of the early days of the automobile, when anyone had trouble with his car or his streak everybody that passed had a different remedy to offer. One would shout, "Trouble is in your carburetor," another would say, "Look at your timer," another, "Your compression is gone," and a wise guy would holler, "There's a short in your muffler." The point is, we were all guessing and nobody knew how to go at it to find out the real trouble. In talking with a dozen different people you will get as many different opinions regarding Everglades lands—what is the matter with it and what it needs, but most of them are merely opinions or based on experiments or actual results, also a single experiment is not to be relied upon for definite results. The agricultural experiment stations carry out their experiments over a period of five or ten years before coming to definite conclusions.

The fertilizer mentioned in last week's article probably contained a large percentage of lime which freed the stored-up plant food in the soil and made it all available for immediate use of the crop which was growing. Now we have some what the same condition existing here. When we clear up a piece of new land, it has on it a heavy coat of decayed vegetation which furnishes plant food for the first crop and to spare; then the rainy season comes on and fills the ground full of water and as there is lots of shell which contains a large percentage of lime, in and under the muck, we get an application of lime which makes the plant food all immediately available so we get a good crop the second year, but what we do not use up in growing crops or weeds passes off into the air as nitrogen gas and we have a worn out soil. The plant food I speak of refers to the ammonia or nitrogen and not to the phosphoric acid and potash, of which the muck soil contains very little compared to the nitrogen element and which does not pass off in gas form but remains in the soil until used up by growing plants. Provided the above condition exists can be bad by asking any old timer in the Everglades as to his preference for farm land, and almost without exception you will hear, "I would rather have one acre of new land than ten acres of old land to farm."

Now the question comes up, "What is the remedy?" There is no use trying to fool ourselves. We all know something has to be done or in a few years we will be somewhere else doing something else besides farming in the Everglades. My opinion is we do need green crops grown on the land when not in use for market crops, to take up the free nitrogen, and to disced down first, then plowed under to add humus and restore the nitrogen. Then we need phosphoric acid and potash added to balance it up, the amount varying for different crops and should be determined by experiment. We are badly in need of an experiment station under competent management to conduct an extensive line of experiments for this particular section of the Everglades. Also the farmers themselves need to learn more of the fundamental principles of agriculture. In no other profession will you find so many people who know so little about the business they are trying to run as in the farming industry, notwithstanding the fact that farming, or the scientific part of it, is the cheapest of all occupations to learn.

Right now, this week, there is being conducted at the Agricultural College at Gainesville, Fla., a "Farmers' Week" of instruction which is free to residents of the state. Yet how many Everglades farmers are there? I venture there is not five, yet no one could go there and not learn something that would repay him for the time and money it cost to go and stay a week.

Enough could be said on the question of fertilizers to fill a whole issue of your paper to say nothing of different crops and industries for the Glades. I have merely skimmed over the question but I do believe that with the proper handling of this land we can grow better crops in years to come than has been done in the past and we will have a soil growing richer instead of poorer, one that will rival "the richest farm in the world," of which I will tell you some other time. Respectfully,
WILLARD SMITH,
Pahokee, Fla., Aug. 10, 1925.

OUTLOOK IN LEE

Harold E. Shreve, plant pathologist and former county agent of Lee county, says the truck crop in the Fort Myers section is apt to be decidedly short. He thus states the reasons for the outlook:

"The truck crop in this section is apt to be decidedly short of the normal acreage for the season. Local conditions have made a radical change in the situation from what it was a year ago. Acres that could produce crops this season are now held idle for subdivision purposes, the prices of land, raw and cultivated, has soared far in advance of its agricultural value, men who have followed trucking for years are quitting the game for the lure of real estate profits and the scarcity and cost of labor for farm purposes make the venture all the more discouraging for those who wish to continue vegetable growing. This is the condition we are facing locally today and the same condition is more or less general over the state."

MANATEE VEGETABLES

Of the prospective acreage of vegetable crops in Manatee county the Palmetto News of August 14 says:

"The celery acreage is about thirty per cent less than last season. The pepper crop also is lighter as well as the egg plant. The lettuce acreage has not been determined but it is expected that both the lettuce and cabbage acreage will be much lighter than last season."

"One of the most noticeable increases in vegetables will be the larger acreage devoted to tomatoes. This is attributed to the ideal season last year and the growers are taking the chance on a repetition of another such season. There is always a greater local demand for fall tomatoes than the supply can satisfy."

"There will be a fair acreage of green beans, English peas, beets and squashes. Also the strawberry acreage will be larger than last season. Manatee county bids fair to become one of the leading producers of strawberries within the next few years."

DITCHES HURT ROADS

TAMPA, Aug. 15.—Action to have the state legislature at its forthcoming special session repeal the law creating special drainage districts in Florida was advocated before the county commissioners yesterday by Commissioner Crum. He decried heavy damage had been done recently to paved highways recently where drainage ditches parallel or intersect them.

NORTHMORE

Northmore is a continuation of Northwood Hills, and of the elevation to the north. Northmore has been most elaborately planned. The avenues and drives are 60 feet in width. All of the lots are properly restricted to make this a high class and extremely desirable residential section. Two rows of business lots have been laid out, lying on the east and west side of Greenwood Street.

Improvements are to be put in by the sellers; rock streets and cement curbs, 5-foot sidewalks, water and electric lights. Every section of Northmore has been properly, moderately and uniformly restricted, and promises to develop and build up even more rapidly than the other sections of Northwood. Many buyers who were unable to secure elevated lots on the ridge when Northwood Hills was placed on the market now have an opportunity to secure one of the choicest dwelling places in the city. Many of these lots have an elevation that permits a view of the ocean, standing on the lots. They are swept with cool breezes. The Ridge Sections of West Palm Beach will soon become as popular as demand for lake front lots.

ADJUST CLAIMS OF EARLY SETTLERS

See Experiment Station on Hillsboro Canal; Engineer with Them

Arriving at Okeechobee on the Seaboard railroad Thursday of last week, Governor John W. Martin and other trustees of the internal improvement fund and commissioners of Everglades drainage district went to Eagle Bay and met applicants for the purchase of state lands. After a luncheon at which they were the guests of the Okeechobee Real Estate Board the state officials left Okeechobee in the launch "Transit" for the western shore of the lake. They stopped at Lakeport for a meeting with state-land claimants and reached Moore Haven that night.

With Governor Martin were J. C. Luning, state treasurer; Rivers H. Buford, attorney general; Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture, who are members of both boards; J. C. Johnson, attorney for the boards; F. C. Elliot, chief engineer of Everglades drainage district, and Byron West, a staff correspondent of the Jacksonville Times-Union.

The party left Moore Haven in the Transit at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon for Ritta, where another meeting with state-land claimants was held, and went thence across the lake to Chosen, at the head of Hillsboro canal, and down the canal past Belle Glade to the Everglades experiment station, where they spent the night. The appointment at Pahokee was kept Saturday, after which the party went to West Palm Beach, arriving there late in the afternoon.

St. Lucie canal was visited Sunday, and the trip was then continued to Miami.

Louisiana Planter To Make Home In Florida

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 3.—Ernest A. Burguiere, who was elected president of the American Sugar Cane League last year upon the retirement of Andrew H. Gay, and who has made a fine leader for the organization, has left Louisiana for Florida where it is said he intends making his home. We understand that Mr. Burguiere will engage in the real estate business with his brother, who has been located in Florida for a number of years. Mr. Burguiere's departure came as a surprise to everybody and we are informed by the officials of the League that a two months' leave has been granted him in the hope that he may yet return to Louisiana. In the mean while Stephen C. Munson, first vice-president of the League, will be the acting president until the annual meeting is held in September.

The above is clipped from "Facts About Sugar," a trade journal published in New York. Mr. Ernest A. Burguiere is a brother of Jules M. Burguiere of West Palm Beach, of Burguiere & Chipley, largest dealers of acreage in the state. He will continue to give attention to the seed-breeding plot at Canal Point which was established by the Sugar Cane League.

TOMATO GROWING IS BIG INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.—Fresh or table tomatoes are now to be had in the leading markets of the United States practically the entire year, the supply in the late fall, winter and spring coming from the west coast of Mexico, Bermuda, the Bahama islands, Cuba, the southern states and the great vegetable forcing houses of the northern and eastern states. The summer and early fall supply comes from the thousands of truck gardens and farms scattered over a wide area, especially in the north central and northern states. According to the 1919 census, the area devoted to early and truck crop tomatoes in the United States was 129,000 acres, exclusive of those grown for canning and manufacturing. The present need of the early and truck crop tomato industry is not increased acreage, but a general improvement in the growing, grading and packing and marketing of the crop.

Fresh tomatoes are shipped in carloads from more than 25 states, but the bulk of the early table stock comes from eight states. The five-year average for the period ended with 1921 was Florida with 4,596 cars a year, New Jersey 2,627 cars, California 2,102 cars, Mississippi 1,431 cars, Texas 1,378 cars and Tennessee 684 cars. Figures are not available to show the great quantities of fresh tomatoes sold locally and those produced in home gardens and used in the homes. The production of early fresh tomatoes in the southern states is more or less localized, while the general market garden and truck crop of the north central and northern states is very generally and widely distributed.

In Florida, the important early tomato sections are around Miami and from Boynton to Crystal Lake Okeechobee, and in the central and north central parts of the state. In Mississippi the early tomato industry is located mainly around Crystal Springs and Hazlehurst. In Texas early tomatoes are grown extensively around Alto, Jacksonville, Tyler and other points in the eastern part of the state. Most of the shipments from California originate near Los Angeles. In Tennessee the towns of Humboldt, Gibson and Milan hold first place in tomato shipments. Marietta, O., and Anna and Cobden, Ill., are important early tomato producing points. New Jersey, with the township of Swedesboro as a leading shipping center, supplies the eastern markets with great quantities of mid-season fresh tomatoes. In the New England states the market garden tomatoes to industry centers around Boston, Providence, New Haven, Hartford and other points. Rochester and Buffalo are important centers in New York; and Ashmun, Cleveland and Toledo in northern Ohio. In fact, mid-season tomato production is highly developed around every important market of the north central and northern states except the extreme northwest, where climatic conditions are not so favorable for tomatoes.

Exceptional results in the production of fancy table tomatoes are often obtained by members of boys' and girls' clubs and by truck gardeners, who follow the practice of spacing 1,000 to 10,000 plants either in rows or in special beds and setting these on one-tenth of an acre to one acre of well-prepared land. By this system the plants are set closer than in regular field culture and are pruned to a single stem and tied to stakes or to a trellis. Cases are reported where more than 80,000 worth of tomatoes have been sold from an acre during a season by this method of culture. Results like this are extremely exceptional, however, and are obtained only under the very best conditions.

Tomatoes may be grown on a wide range of soil types, but a warm, well-drained and fertile soil is essential for soilless high quality and grade. A large part of the southern early tomato crop is produced on sandy loam soils having a clay subsoil and capable of being worked very early in the spring. Land that is slightly rolling or with a gentle slope toward the south or southeast, or which is located where it has the protection of a thick pine woodland or a hill to the north, is considered ideal from the standpoint of earliness. In New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and others of the Atlantic Coast states truck crop tomatoes are grown for the most part on sandy loam soils, the selection of the land being made with early maturity of the crop prominently in mind. In the northern states tomatoes are grown on almost all types of soil, those of a loamy or sandy loam character being given preference.

Profitable tomato culture is largely dependent upon the soil on which the crop is grown being in the proper physical condition. Heavy soils and those that are poorly drained or which are plowed while too wet seldom yield a profit. Soils deficient in organic matter or in need of lime are not satisfactory for the production of tomatoes. Plant food can be added in the form of fertilizers, but no amount of concentrated plant food will atone for a run-down and poor physical condition of the soil.

Crop rotation is a matter of great importance in tomato growing, regardless of soil type or locality. Land on which manure was applied to a cultivated crop the previous season or which has grown a crop of clover or other soil-building crop is preferable. Tomatoes should not follow tomatoes, for the rotation should not include potatoes, peppers or eggplant, as these are liable to transmit the diseases affecting the tomato. Certain weeds closely related to the tomato, such as ground cherry or husk tomato and horse nettle are thought to be carriers of certain tomato diseases, and land infested with these weeds should not be planted to tomatoes. Nematodes, or gallworms, are particularly troublesome on many of the sandy soils of the south, and many loam soils of the north, causing gall-like formations on the roots of the tomatoes.

It is impractical to recommend a definite crop rotation that will be adapted to all localities, but in general tomatoes should be grown in a rotation covering at least four years and including one cultivated crop in addition to the tomatoes and one or more soil-building crops. The important considerations from the standpoint of crop rotation are the avoidance of loss from disease and the securing of high yields and quality. In some localities this may be accomplished by a four-year or five-year rotation, but in other a much longer cycle or rotation may be required.

In Florida the tomato fields are allowed to grow up in heavy grass during the summer, the being either cut for hay or plowed under as a soil-improvement crop. In Texas and Mississippi tomatoes are followed the same season with sweet potatoes, peanuts or soybeans or cowpeas. In Indiana, where considerable acreage of tomatoes are pruned and tied to stakes, it is customary to plant the heart out of the plant after about four clusters of fruit have been formed, and after the early fruit is marketed a hill of Kentucky Wonder beans is planted by each stake and the beans are allowed to climb upon the stakes and the old tomato vines. In the New England states the fruiting season for tomatoes usually extends almost until frost, and there is little opportunity for intercropping or the planting of soil-building crops.

With a limited supply of manure it becomes necessary for growers to rely more upon soil-building crops and rotations that tend to build up the soil. Contractor Wants Barges at South Bay John T. Chambers, who has the contract for installation of four pumping plants in Palm Beach drainage and highway district, stopped in Canal Point Tuesday on his way to West Palm Beach, required to use the Indian town road because Okeechobee road is closed. He is looking for two barges. Houses of structural steel frame and sheet iron sides and roof will cover the pumping plants and he has contracts for these as well as for the foundations, he says. The houses will be 43x50, which is approximately the dimensions of the foundation.

TOLL GATE STOPPED HIM
WEST PALM BEACH, Aug. 9.—Because his pocketbook was too slim to pass a toll gate on the Connors highway and because, therefore, he was forced to abandon his car and set out on foot, Claude Morrison, Alabama youth, last night was in the county jail here facing arraignment on a charge of grand larceny.

Sheriff R. C. Baker, charged yesterday that Morrison took the machine without permission from a road near Canal Point and that he started out toward Okeechobee City. When he reached a toll gate on the highway and had no funds to pay, he left the car and started walking. Toll station attendants became suspicious and notified Sheriff W. M. Collins of Okeechobee who arrested the youth and held him for Sheriff Baker.

work done with the dredges since they started. The people that have the work in control know how to move things. We folks here at Ritta and Bare Beach are glad to see something like that town come near us and we do hope that the dike and canal work they are doing will cut off the water that is now flooding our land and crops.

The writer had peppers and eggplants set out and under good headway, but for the last three days the water is coming down from Clewiston and from the sawgrass as it did in 1921 and is spreading all over the Glades from the Miami canal to Clewiston. The Jeffries canal that runs west from the Miami canal and is one mile and a half west of Ritta is full and running over—it is a hard matter to find it today. I hate to say this but this is the fourth fall crop I have lost. I have between 50 and 75 barrels of corn still in the field and I expect the ducks and coots will get that. But mark you, I won't let the duck shooters kill them in my field. E. B. Fortson and M. M. Hall and I are about the only farmers that have corn, and they too will do likewise.

Now in conclusion: I note in last week's issues that the question was asked about a place for the road surveyors to house at. I will say that there is plenty of house room at Bare Beach. Send them over there to camp and they can work both ways. How would that suit?
